Job Application for Production Associate

About Me

In High School, before deciding to pursue a career in Sciences, my interest in writing and arts led me to enroll in the professional track of Communications. Although I did not end up pursuing a career in journalism, the training I had during those years has been extremely useful in my academic life helping me find the best ways to share my own research and results.

Why MJM?

Having experience with submitting manuscripts for publications, I am very attracted to the idea of gaining experience on the other side of scientific publishing, especially in a journal that is closely related to my own field of study. I would love the opportunity to collaborate in an environment surrounded by people who share my passion for science and its communication.

Why Me?

Throughout the years, during my training in both Communication and Life Sciences, I have developed a set of skills and interests that make me a perfect candidate for the job:

- Pre-professional training in both journalism and typesetting.
- Experience in Science communications.
- Technical knowledge:

LaTeX: I wrote my Master's thesis using LaTeX. Available online.

Web development: For my lab, I have developed a full web application using HTML and Javascript. Available online.

I sincerely believe I would make a valuable contribution to your Journal. I am eager to learn more about this position and I thank you warmly for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Sofía Fernández Lozano
